

What is Parents Interaction Forum?

In lot many cases, Parents are clueless when they realize that their child is having some form of disability.

First come the concern of accepting disability, as it is, rather than developing some biased and opinionated ideas.

Next is looking for required support system to best cater to the needs of their differently able child.

And, all this calls for someone, we could look towards for guidance and mentoring.

Taking this particular need in concern, Sarthak has initiated a Parents' Interaction Forum, where all the parents can drop their queries and get required assistance and guidance.

Our team members will connect you to our support system, and they will address your doubts and concerns.

Our support system includes, Professionals, Medical Practitioners, and Parents of children with Disability.

We offer a confidential, professional service, in a warm, friendly atmosphere, where you will be listened to and given space to explore any issues relating to parenting of people with disabilities.
