He is working over there from last 5 years, he is promoted as a support executive and he also got hike in salary, now his current salary is 15,000/- per month.

While having conversation with Mintu, he quoted,” there are many people who show sympathy and feel pity for differently able persons but there are very few who carry such persons along with them considering normal and equal. I am glad and thankful that Sarthak gave me such a platform where I was treated the way I always wanted to be, just like any other normal person, and helped me in ignoring my disability and realizing my ability. Today, I never look back and I am living my life independently with self-respect”
